

Doctrine of Healing

Unworthy Techniques Used to Enhance the Manifestation of a Miracle

1. Raising the level of expectation. This can be done by voice manipulation such as breathless excitement and by time delay creating a sense of tension as people are forced to wait.
2. Moving individuals to an altered state of consciousness. This can be done in part by repetition of music or prayers.
3. Creating a prayer line.
4. Laying on of hands.
5. Testimonials.
6. Suggesting through a spirit of discernment present that someone is going to be healed who has a particular illness.
7. Pointing to a section of the audience and pronouncing that someone with a particular type of illness is being healed. Now they should come forward and share.
8. Finding out ahead of time who is sick and with what ailment and then manipulating those individuals. The manipulation can be claiming something that has not happened or, in the moment of hope and excitement convincing the individuals something has happened and they are cured.

Conclusion

In each of these techniques there is the potential for abuse. Therefore the heart must be kept pure, the motives honest and faith must remain intact. The flesh is ever present to challenge and usurp whatever God might be pleased to do. Rather than abandon a healing ministry in the church let faithful ministers find fresh faith to say,

“I believe in miracles. I believe in a wonder working God. I believe the church has a ministry to the sick. I believe God will visit His people with blessings and healing. I will pray for the sick. I will believe God to heal according to His sovereign choice and will. I believe in miracles.”